Davis Joint Unified School District
Published by Maria Clayton · October 9 at 3:13 PM

This is an update on the PG&E Public Safety Shutoff and how it impacts DJUSD schools.

With the exception of Fairfield Elementary, which is temporarily closed, at this time all DJUSD campuses and facilities have power and remain open with normal operational hours.

The weather forecast continues to predict extreme high winds for this evening and into Thursday. While no additional power outages are projected at this time, we understand that this is subject to change with shifts...

DJUSD NOT INCLUDED IN PG&E POWER SHUTDOWN AREA
PG&E has announced its plans to conduct a shutdown of electricity throughout a large portion of Northern California tomorrow, October 8. At this time, Davis is not included in the area expecting to have power shutdown. Therefore, with the possible exception of Fairfield Elementary, schools in Davis Joint Unified will be open and operating with normal schedules and programs tomorrow. You can find up-to-date details and public safety information on the from PG&E Power Shutoff website.
