Closing Comments

“We are in a pandemic. We are in a moment of crisis. I know it’s frustrating. I want to acknowledge that people really want to see our communities open. I’m sure that people are upset and heartbroken that our business communities in many counties have to close. But what’s the alternative? The alternative would be to charge ahead into unknown territory, where there are warning signs that is not safe. All lives are valuable, and we have to be careful and thoughtful about how we proceed.”

-State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tony Thurmond
