

Instructional Materials Available for Public Review

The following instructional materials are available for public review, preceding formal district adoption later this year. Members of the instructional materials adoption committees, consisting of staff, community members, parents, and, at the high school level, students, have determined that these are the titles they will recommend to the Davis Board of Education for adoption consideration later this year. The cost of instructional materials will come solely from categorical funds that have been specifically designated by the California Department of Education for the purpose of purchasing instructional materials.
